represent an average of 2,700 openings at the 179 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is the lowest for The 483,000 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agencies 1978 to date and is approximately 16 percent lower than the December 1977 average. 'December's Job Bank openings were 8.7 percent less than in the same month a year ago and are the lowest for 1978. It also marks the third consecutive time since these data were first published in June 1977 that one month's job the same month the previous year. openings have been less than in

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978 to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local ES offices.

January "Occupations in Demand" Issued

Based on these data, the Labor Department today issued the January edition of "Occupations in Demand at Job Service Offices," an advance copy of which is attached.

"Occupations in Demand" identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices the prevous month. The January edition lists 96 occupations that account for 241,000 openings, or almost 50 percent of the December Job Bank total.

The "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is available as well at many libraries, schools, and similar community locations. It is designed to tell job seekers—especially those just entering the labor market—what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

.The Employment and Training Administration cautioned that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during December in the communities listed.

Data Collection and Dissemination

This release presents and analyzes information from a monthly survey that covers close to 2,500 state Job Service (public employment service) offices located throughout the country. Local Job Service offices receive job orders from employers each day. As these orders are called in, they are coded and fed into a State computer facility. The computer organizes job openings information for each local area in the State and prints it out in indexed form. The printout—the local Job Bank Book—then is reproduced and daily updated editions are distributed to Job Service local offices for the use of individual job applicants.

At the beginning of each month, the state Job Services forward all their job openings information for the entire previous month—in computer tape form—to a national data processing facility. There, these tapes are processed through a number of programs that aggregate and arrange this interstate job openings information into monthly summary reports designed to assist job seekers, students, school counselors and placement specialists, manpower and vocational education planners, research organization personnel, and state Job Service and unemployment Insurance staffs.

Occupations In Demand At Job Service Offices

For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

January, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 1

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (\bigstar) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 8 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1. Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job
- 2. Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- 3. Learn all you can about the employers products or services Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay
 - b Be prepared to furnish references
- 4 Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as Would you tell me a little about yourself? Why do you want to work for us? and Why did you leave your last job?
- 5 Be on time Dress neatly Be natural
- 6 Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- 7 Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity-as well as enthusiasm--are the keys to a successful interview
- 8 After the interview, review your answers and behavior.
 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.
 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques consult you local Job Service office, public library or school placement center

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: January 1979

There were 448,000 permanent full-time jobs available through Employment Service Job Banks across the Nation during January, the Department of Labor reported today. Although these job openings represent no substantial change over December's January's figures have not shown a significant increase over the previous month's job openings. data, this is the first time since 1975 that than December's and approximately 18 percent lower than the January 1978 average. this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is slightly higher The 448,000 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agencies represent an average of 2,783 openings at the 161 local Job Banks covered by January's Job Bank openings were 15.9 percent less than in the same month a published in June 1977 that one month's job openings have been less than in the year ago. This is the fourth consecutive time since these data were first same month the previous year.

Month-to-month changes in these data may not reflect cyclical variations adjusted for seasonality. as this information is not building wiring assembly, installation, and repair; plumbers, gas fitters, steam fitters and related occupations; processing of food, tobacco, and related products; police officers and detectives, public service; information and reception clerks; stenographers; typists and typewriting machine operators; bookkeepers and bookkeeping machine operators; housecleaners in hotels, restaurants, and related establishments; file clerks; and billing and rate clerks.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of state Job Services which have 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every state. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys.

Job Bank openings data for January exclusively utilize the fourth edition Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978 to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local ES offices.

February "Occupations in Demand" Issued

Based on these data, the Labor Department today issued the February edition of "Occupations in Demand at Job Service Offices," an advance copy of which is attached.

"Occupations in Demand" identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices the previous month. The February edition lists 83 occupations that account for 211,000 openings, or over 47 percent of the January Job Bank total.

The "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is available as well at many libraries, schools, and similar community locations. It is designed to tell job seekers—especially those just entering the labor market—what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

The Employment and Training Administration cautioned that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during January in the communities listed.

February, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 2

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 8 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Arae Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names. Job Bank Districts—are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range. A weighted average by number of job openings available of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The how range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest tray rates the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A duity computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Joh Bank data are truanized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the prepeding month.
- Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been fisted by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services all shated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Lator. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- 7. Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full-time permanent openings (openings for jubs expected to last 150 days or morel received by Employment Service Jub Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried-over from the previous month.
- 8. Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwille total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month frum the number of openings available.
- 9. Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per munth must have had at least 50 openings, while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OID bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those tob orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 1159B) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1. Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- 3. Learn all you can about the employers products or services.

 Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
- 4: Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
- 5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- 6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity as well as enthusiasm—are the keys to a successful interview.
- After the interview, review your answers and behavior.
 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.
 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques, consult you local Job Service office, public library or school placement center.

MARCH 1979 JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: There were 515,000 permanent, full-time jobs available through state employment service Job Banks across the Nation during March, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the April edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

for use by the general public as a job search tool. a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry." The supplement lists selected available aerospace job openings, and is the first attempt at pub-This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains the second issue of lishing detailed job order data order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office to determine the current status of re-Titles (DOT) code numbers, order-holding office telephone numbers, and actual job Information contained in the supplement includes Dictionary of Occupational levant job opportunities.

Other supplements may be issued in the future to cover additional industries where the nationwide need for qualified workers is deemed critical. Total March job openings represent an increase of 15.2 percent over February's since August 1978 that one month's figures have Shown an increase over the previous month's job openings. total. This is the first time

The 515,000 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agencies represent an average of 3,063 openings at the 168 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is 19.1 percent higher than February's and approximately 24 percent lower than the March 1978 average.

year ago. This is the sixth consecutive time since these data were first published in June 1977 that one month's job openings have been less than in the same month March's Job Bank openings were 21.3 percent less than in the same month a

or more were recorded in Arkansas (Little Rock and Non-Metro), Florida (Jacksonville Idaho and Treasure Valley), Kentucky (Western), Minnesota (Northwest and Southeast), and Tallahassee), Georgia (North), Iowa (Des Moines and Sioux City), Idaho (Eastern sented had gains in openings between February and March. Increases of 35 percent As a result of the nationwide increase, 79 percent of the local areas repre-Fayetteville, and Raleigh), Pennsylvania (Allentown and Harrisburg), Virginia Missouri (Southwestern), Mississippi (Northern), North Carolina (Asheville, (Peninsula), and Washington (Eastern).

The most significant industry gains from February to March in Job Bank open-(+ 52 percent); general merchandise stores (+ 47 percent); general byilding conings listings occurred among employers associated with: agricultural services dealers (+ 53 percent); general construction contractors--other than building (+ 56 percent); building materials, hardware, garden supply, and mobile home struction contractors (+ 41 percent); special trade construction contractors agricultural production--crops (+ 34 percent); apparel and accessory stores (+ 36 percent); lumber and wood products, except furniture (+ 34 percent);

(+ 33 percent); stone, clay, glass, and concrete products (+ 30 percent); amusement and recreation services, except motion pictures (+ 30 percent); railroad transportation (+ 30 percent); apparel and other finished products made from fabrics (+ 29 percent); and real estate (+ 28 percent). Most of the Jarger industries employing the bulk of American workers showed between a 4 percent and a 42 percent increase from February to March in job orders placed with Job Service Job Banks.

Occupations with 1,000 or more total openings and with at least 44 percent more openings listed in March included those employing or involving: horticultural specialty occupations; plant life and related service occupations; occupations in preschool, primary school, and kindergarten education; railroad transportation occupations; excavating, grading and related occupations; sales of textile products, apparel, and notions; packaging occupations; miscellaneous personal service occupations; miscellaneous construction occupations; gardening and groundskeeping occupations; construction and maintenance painters; miscellaneous materials handling occupations; domestic animal farming occupations; fabricating machine occupations; and heavy truck drivers.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of state Job Services comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every state. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys.

Job Bank openings data for March exclusively utilized the fourth edition DOT format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978 to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local Job Service offices.

"Occupations In Demand" (an advanced copy is attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices the previous month. The April edition lists 92 occupations that account for 257,000 openings, or almost 50 percent of the March Job Bank total, exclusive of the data contained in the Aerospace Supplement.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during March in the communities listed.

April, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 4

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names Job Bank Districts are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range. A weighted average by number of job openings available of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest-pay rates the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of joo openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings days for the operation month.
- Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for hilling with a public Job Service office.
- Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services alfiliated with the U. S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- 6. Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- Dpenings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full-time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried-over from the previous month.
- Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwide total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- 9. Selection Criteria. Docupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings; while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OfD bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Special Supplement

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

April, 1979 Special Supplement No.2

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1 Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- 2. Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- Learn all you can about the employers products or services.Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
- 4. Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
- 5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- 6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- 7. Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity-as well as enthusiasm--are the keys to a successful interview.
- 8. After the interview, review your answers and behavior.

 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.

 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques, consult you local Job Service office, public library or school placement center.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers—especially those just entering the labor market—what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during April in the communities listed.

May, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 5

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- 1 Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names. Job Bank Districts are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range: A whighted average is by number of job openings available of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings, that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings lister at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are producted in terms of State and focal areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.
- 4 Job Openings A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- 5 Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Emiloyment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service. Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services, through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- Good Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition OOT.
- 7 Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full time permanent openings for jobs expected to last 150 clays or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried over from the previous month.
- Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwrite total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a focal area, an occupation must have half a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have half at least 50 openings while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as lew as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11) the OID bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Special Supplement

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

May, 1979 Special Supplement No.3

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the

Pacific Northwest and Southern California

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1. Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- 2. Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- 3. Learn all you can about the employers products or services.

 Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
- 4. Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
- 5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- 6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- 7. Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity—as well as enthusiasm—are the keys to a successful interview.
- After the interview, review your answers and behavior.
 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.
 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques, consult you local Job Service office, public library or school placement center.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during May in the communities listed.

Total May job openings represent an increase of 5.8 percent over April's total. This is the third consecutive time this year that one month's figures have shown an increase over the previous month's job openings.

this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is 13.1 percent higher represent an average of 3,413 openings at the 173 local Job Banks covered by The 590,000 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agenices than April's and approximately 20 percent lower than the May 1978 average.

published in June 1977 that one month's job openings have been less than in the May's Job Bank openings were 19.8 percent less than in the same month a year ago. This is the eighth consecutive time since these data were first same month the previous year.

had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 282,000 Of the total number of current openings, about 308,000 or 52.2 percent jobs still available as of June 1.

represented had gains in openings between April and May. Increases of 20 percent (Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, and Saginaw), North Carolina (Greenville and Hickory), Southern), Florida (Ft. Lauderdale), Idaho (Magic Valley), Illinois (Central), Indiana (Indianapolis), Massachusetts (Taunton), Maryland (Western), Michigan New Jersey (Jersey City and Trenton), Ohio (East Central and North Central), or more were recorded in California (San Diego), Colorado (Pueblo/West and As a result of the nationwide increase, 75 percent of the local areas Tennessee (Middle), and Wisconsin (Northwest, Southeast, and Statewide).

The most significant industry gains from April to May in Job Bank openings listings occurred among employers associated with: agricultural production-crops (+ 72 percent); bituminous coal and lignite mining (+ 30 percent); forestry (+ 30 percent); administration of environmental quality and housing programs (+ 28 percent); railroad transportation (+ 21 percent); rubber and miscellaneous plastic products (+ 20 percent); apparel and other finished products made from fabrics (+ 16 percent); legal services (+ 16 percent); miscellaneous manufacturing industries (+ 15 percent); textile mill products (+ 15 percent); building construction-general contractors (+ 14 percent); amusement and recreation services, except motion pictures (+ 14 percent); and personal services (+ 14 percent).

Most of the larger industries employing the bulk of American workers showed between a 4 percent decrease and a 72 percent increase from April to May in job orders placed with Job Service Job Banks.

Occupations with 1,000 or more total openings and with at least 20 percent more openings listed in May included those employing or involving: field crop farming occupations; police officers and detectives (public service); occupations in secondary school education; civil engineering occupations; bartenders; plastics; synthetics, rubber, and leather working occupations; transportation equipment assemblers; slaughtering, breaking, curing, and related occupations; filing, grinding, buffing, cleaning, and polishing occupations; bookkeepers and bookkeeping-machine operators; garment pressing occupations; railroad transportation occupations; casting and molding occupations; forest conservation occupations; and miscellaneous metalworking occupations.

This information is based on a monthly U.S Employment Service survey of state Job Bank Services comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every state. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys.

Job Bank openings data for May exclusively utilized the fourth edition DOT format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978, to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local Job Service offices.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

Occupations In Demand At Job Service Offices

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service

For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office. June, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 6

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Arsa Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most aree names — Job Bank Districts — are established labor market ereas. Reeding from left to right, aree names ere listed in elphabetical order by State ebbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range. A weighted average by number of job openings available of the pay offesed by employers for the occupations listed. The low renge reported represents the everage pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay retes, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank dete are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.
- Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- 5. Job Service. A reletively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U. S., Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" buildtin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full-time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried-over from the previous month.
- Openings Stifl Assilable et End of Month. The nationwide total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting plecements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- 9. Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generelly are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings reletive to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at leest 50 openings; while occupations listed for an aree with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OID bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as pert of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referrel activity has been conducted.

Special Supplement

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

June, 1979
Special Supplement No. 4

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1 Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- 2. Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- Learn all you can about the employers products or services.Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
- 4. Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
- 5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- 6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- 7. Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity-as well as enthusiasm--are the keys to a successful interview.
- 8. After the interview, review your answers and behavior.

 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.

 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

July, 1979 Vol.3 No. 7

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names – Job Bank Districts – are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range. A weighted average by number of job openings available of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the flowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.
- Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U. S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full-time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, olus those carried over from the previous month.
- Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwide total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- 9. Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were Irequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings, while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OID bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Special Supplement For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

July, 1979 Special Supplement No. 5

This insert to the Occupations in Oemand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1. Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- 3. Learn all you can about the employers products or services.

 Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
- 4. Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
- 5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- 6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- 7. Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity-as well as enthusiasm--are the keys to a successful interview.
- After the interview, review your answers and behavior.
 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.
 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques, consult you local Job Service office public library or school placement center.

The most significant industry gains from June to July in Job Bank openings listing occurred among employers associated with: metal mining (+72 percent); public finance, taxation, and monetary policy (+15 percent); oil and gas extraction (+8 percent); administration of economic programs (+6 percent); general merchandise stores (+4 percent); miscellaneous retail trade (+4 percent); stone, clay, glass, and concrete products (+3 percent); food and kindred products (+2 percent); and transportation services (+2 percent). Most of the larger industries employing the bulk of American workers showed between a 25 percent decrease and a 15 percent increase from June to July in job orders placed with Job Service Job Banks.

Occupations with 1,000 or more total openings and with at least 5 percent more openings listed in July included those employing or involving: interviewing clerks; miscellaneous occupations in processing of food, tobacco, and related products; miscellaneous cooks, except domestic; miscellaneous occupations in extraction of minerals; miscellaneous personal service occupations; occupations in upholstering and in fabrication and repair of stuffed furniture and mattresses; sales clerks; industrial engineering occupations; fabricating machine occupations; and miscellaneous metal unit assemblers and adjusters.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of state Job Bank Services comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every state. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys.

Job Bank openings data for July exclusively utilized the fourth edition DOT format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978, to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local Job Service offices.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers—especially those just entering the labor market—what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

August, 1979 Special Supplement No. 6

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Oictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation fisted. Most area names. Job Bank Districts—are established labor market breas Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range A weighted average by number of job openings available of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low cample reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings.
- 4. Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- 5. Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services, through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- 6. Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried over from the previous month.
- Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwide total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month.
- 9. Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were Irrequently listed at one or more Joh Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have hail a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total opening could have had as few as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OIO bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Occupations In Demand At Job Service Offices

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

August, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 8

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Dccupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (\bigstar) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every state. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for August exclusively utilized the fourth edition DOT format, including only those titles and codes presented in that

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978, to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local Job Service offices.

This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains the seventh issue of a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry." The supplement lists selected available aerospace job openings, and is the first attempt at publishing detailed job order data for use by the general public as a job search tool.

Information contained in the supplement includes Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) code numbers, order-holding office telephone numbers, and actual job order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office to determine the current status of relevant job opportunities.

Other supplements may be issued in the future to cover additional industries where the nationwide need for qualified workers is deemed critical.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers—especially those just entering the labor market—what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

September, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 9

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names – Job Bank Districts – are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2 Pay Range A weighted average by number of job openings available of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- 3 Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.
- 4 Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- 5. Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services, through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- 6. Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried over from the previous month
- 8 Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwide total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This liquide is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- 9. Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently fisted occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings, while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

NOTE: Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OfD bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 1159B) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Special Supplement

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

September, 1979 Special Supplement No. 7

This insert to the Dccupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Decupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: September 1979

There were 542,000 permanent, full-time jobs available through state employment service Job Banks across the Nation during September, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the October edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (an advanced copy is attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices the previous month. The October edition lists 93 occupations that account for 284,000 openings, or almost 52.5 percent of the September Job Bank total, exclusive of the data contained in the Aerospace Supplement.

The 542,000 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agencies represent an average of 3,227 openings at the 168 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is 1.4 percent higher than August's and approximately 25 percent lower than the September 1978 average.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no quarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during September in the communities listed.

September's Job Bank openings were 22.3 percent less than in the same month a year ago. This is the twelfth consecutive time since these data were first published in June 1977 that one month's job openings have been less than in the same month the previous year.

Month-to-month changes in these data may not reflect cyclical variations as this information is not adjusted for seasonality.

Of the total number of current openings, about 273,000 or 50.4 percent, had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 269,000 jobs still available as of October 1.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys. Using this method of comparison, September job openings represent a decrease of 5.7 percent from August's total. This is the third time in the last four months that one month's figures have not shown an increase over the previous month's job openings, and is the largest August to September month-to-month percentage decrease since 1974, when the decline

As a result of the nationwide decrease, only 26 percent of the local areas represented had tains in openings between August and September.

Increases of 10 percent or more were recorded in Arizona (Phoenix), California (Sacramento), Idaho (Treasure Valley), Illinois (Southern), Indiana (Indianapolis), Kansas (Salina), Michigan (Grand Rapids), Nebraska (lincoln), New Jersey (Trenton), New York (Albany, Syracuse, and White Plains), and Oregon (Willamette).

Other supplements may be issued in the future to cover additional industries where the nationwide need for qualified workers is deemed critical.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers—especially those just entering the labor market—what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

October, 1979 Vol. 3 No. 10

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undersirable working conditions.

Starred (*\pm) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16'lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

- Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names. Job Bank Districts. are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.
- 2. Pay Range. A weighted average—by number of job openings available—of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those injenings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.
- Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.
- Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.
- Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

- 6. Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
- Openings Available For Month
 The nationwrite total of new full time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried-over from the previous month.
- 8. Openings Stiff Available at End of Month. The nationwide total of openings stiff available on the fast day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- Selection Criteria. Occupations including in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have haif a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings, while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

NOTE Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the DID bulletin wife exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

Special Supplement

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

U.S. Department of Labor Employment and Training Administration U.S. Employment Service For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

October, 1979 Special Supplement No. 8

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the

Pacific Northwest and Southern California

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up to date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

- 1. Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- 2. Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- 3. Learn all you can about the employers products or services. Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
- 4. Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?
- 5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- 6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- 7. Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity—as well as enthusiasm—are the keys to a successful interview.
- 8. After the interview, review your answers and behavior.

 Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews.

 Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques, consult you local Job Service office, public library or school placement center.
